Perrari Solutions, Inc. Launches Software Consulting Practice

DOWNINGTOWN, PA - August 22, 2006 – Perrari Solutions Incorporated announced that it has commenced operations to help software companies meet revenue objectives, improve sales processes, strategically position and manage product suites, optimize technical support, and maintain operational continuity through times of changing leadership.

The corporation was formed from the existing independent consulting practice of Randall Pearson. Randall's career spans 20 years including leading a significant part of Oracle Applications Support and five years as a Vice President of a Fiserv business unit. "Incorporating creates the proper structure to grow the business including additional associates, services and products," said Mr. Pearson.

Perrari Solutions is the authorized provider of Dimensional Analysis™ training, the best way to optimize first-call technical support interactions. This training is offered in the United States exclusively by Randall Pearson, creator of Dimensional Analysis™. Mr. Pearson is a long-time support leader, executive and the author of Mastering Problem Solving Techniques (a self-paced course), and Effective Information Gathering Techniques, an HDI focus book.
